

Here some sample of a the test application runnig on Windows 11 Enterprise (Version 22H2 , OS build 22621.1105), the system is configured with two monitors in Extend mode:

- main monitor with display resolution 3840x2400 and scale 250%
- secondary monitor with display resolution 2560x1440 and scale 100%.

In this first image you can see how the application appear on main monitor, all the controls not scaling as expected and the AdvSmmothPopup is showed on a wrong position (not aligned with the control Button1):

In this second image you can see how the application appear on secondary monitor, all the controls inside the AdvSmoothPopup not scaling as expected, in this case the AdvSmmothPopup is showed in a right position (aligned with the control Button1).
